Baseball Victoria COVID-19 Update

Baseball Victoria continues to closely monitor the evolving COVID-19 situation and updates from the Baseball Victoria, working with Sport and Recreation Victoria and the associated Victorian Government departments that have been assisting Victoria throughout this global pandemic, continue to prepare for a return to activity and a return to play for baseball.

Clubs are currently reviewing draft fixtures for a planned returned to baseball after a four-week training window, where all baseball players, coaches, officials and volunteers will register to train for free with their club.

Until we are able to confirm the format and official start date for the hybrid 2020/2021 COVID season, we will continue to plan our return to activity, looking first at our options to train.

At this stage, indications from the Victorian Government's scheduled update on Sunday, 18 October 2020 are positive for Victorians to receive some easing of the restrictions, but it's not clear how these will apply to sport or if they will be suitable to start club training. We are hopeful that it will allows clubs to continue to prepare club facilities for our imminent return.

Vale Jacinda Barclay

Five-time Emeralds World Cup representative Jacinda Barclay passed away this week. Barclay was 29.

The Australian baseball community extends its deepest sympathies to Barclay's family, friends and teammates during this difficult time.

Barclay made her World Cup debut as a 17-year-old in 2008 and was part of the Emeralds' silver medal winning team in 2010. She went on to play three more World Cups in 2012, 2014 and 2016.

West Australian-born Barclay regularly represented her state at the Australian Women's Championship and also played football for the Chicago Bliss in the Legends Football League and Greater Western Sydney in the AFL Women's competition.

Barclay also played in Victoria and remained in baseball where she was selected in New South Wales' squad for the cancelled 2020 Australian Women's Championship after playing with Greenway Giants in the Women's NSW State Baseball League last summer.
